George Lyons Robbed Even of His Shoes and Socks.

The Robbers and Their Victim Under Thirteen Years of Age.

George Lyons, a diminutive thirteenyear-old newsboy, who says he lives at East Sixteenth street, climbed up to the bench of the Tombs Court this morning and poured into the cars of Justice Martin the thrilling story how he had been waylaid, knocked down and robbed, not only of the money in RUTHERFORD, N. J., June 22.—The his pocket—60 cents—but also of his excitement over the report that the Peoshoes and socks in City Hall Park a pie's Bank, of Passaic, which has shoes and socks in City Hail Park a few hours before.

The two highwaymen whom he charged with the offense were Morris Lewis, of 25 Market street, known to his companions as "Red," and Abe Cohen, of 82 Delancey street. Hoth have reached the mature age of twelve years and are also newsboys.

The prisoners started out on their career of crime late last night, when "Red" asked Abe to go some place and have a "smile," and the latter consented. According to their own story they proceeded to a dive on Roosevett street, where they had a schooner each for three cents. They liked it so well that Abe said, "Have one with me, and another of the long glasses was emptted. That emptied their exchequer, and not caring to go home they proceeded to the park to sieep off the effect of their potations.

When they awoke this morning both were thirsty, and, not having money enough to quench their thirst, they proceeded to procure some in the quickest manner possible. A woman happened to be passing at the time, and with one kepulse both hoys sprang upon her. Both isnatehed at the purse which she carried in her hand, but she held on so firinly and screamed so hard that the boys became frightened and ran. The woman, who was baily frightened, walked harriedly away.

"Say, what are we going to do now, Cully?" asked Abe, and it was at that unlucky moment that young Lyons came in sight. Abe was shoeless while Lyons wore a decent pair.

"There's your chance for a pair of shoes." cried Lewis, and both attacked lucky moment that young Lyons came in sight. Abe was sheeless while Lyons wore a decent pair.

"There's your chance for a pair of shoes." cried Lewis, and both attacked the boy at once.

Lyons was knocked down, and while one of the young highwaymen went through his pockets and took the 60 cents, the other took off the lai's shoes which Abe quickly put on.

Lyons, as soon as he got on his feet began to cry, and then he was struck several times about the face until he was glad to run away.

With the money thus obtained the boys proceeded again to the Roosevelt street dive, and while Lewis got away with five more schooners. Cohen contented himself with four.

On the street both felt a little hitarious and then began to quarrel themselves about the division of what was left. It was decided to fight it out in Theatre Aley and there they proceeded.

Abe did not have to take off his coat as he had none, and the boys were soon boxing for all they were worth. They were so interested in smashing cach other that they did not notice the approach of Park Policeman Dwyer, to whom young Lyons had made a compliant.

Neither of the boys showed any inproach of Park Policeman Dwyer, to whom young Lyons had made a complaint:

Neither of the boys showed any inclination to resist arrest, but, on the contrary, both said they would be willing to go anywhere. All they wanted was a "square deal."

When the Tombo Court was reached Agent Tallas, of the Children's Society, took charge of the boys, and when arraigned before the barthey wereall crying. Then each boy started in to tell the story of the night and early morning's happenings, and Abe laushed as he described how "Red" had "swiped" two cigars from the divekceper.

Lyons, who was well acquainted with the other two, also informed the Court that it was their usual practice to grub' from the City Hall Park loungers. He did not explain what "grubbing meant, but the Court seemed to understand it.

At first the boys kept up a brave front and seemed to defy the Court, but after close questioning they began making charges against each other, and became so fierce that it required the interference of the officers to prevent a renewal of the Theatre Alley fight.

Finally the prisoners were held in $500 for trial at General Sessions, and Lyons was held as a vagrant, pending an investigation.

The perents of the boys will be sought at the ground of cruelty and desertion.

Lyons was held as a vagrant, pending an investigation.

The parents of the boys will be sought out and explanations demanded. The divekeeper will also be taken cure of for selling the boys the state beer.

Both boys admitted that they had only been on the "hum" for three days, and that they would be "licked" when they got home.

Mrs. Kaiser and Mrs Goldstein Successful Before Judge McAdam.

Judge McAdam, in the Superior Court, to-day heard evidence on which he will grant absolute divorces to two women.

Helen Kaiser married Isaac Kaiser on Dec. 18, 1889, and they lived quietly together until he made the acquaintance of Jennie Kohen. His wife discovered that he was too fond of Jennie, and he subsequently confessed his geilt, but sent her a letter in which he asked his dear wife for her "dear forgiveness" saying that if she would take him back, they would be the happiest couple in the world.

His wife would not forgive him, and he then went to Chicago to live with Jennie, where he is supposed to be now.
